

Higher School Prep

Art and Design

Objectives

Preparation year to entrance examination for higher schools of Art and Design. It allows students to acquire the basics and common notions of plastic art and all applied arts, to master the practical and graphic tools through many specialized workshops, and to develop their own creativity and refine their choice of courses thanks to a tutored follow-up.

Program

Theoretical teachings:

General culture and knowledge of the contemporary world.

Languages, materials technology and applied sciences, writing methodology and writing workshops (1 day/week).

Practical teachings:

intent and academic drawing, space and volume, models and packaging, photo and lab, desktop publishing and computer graphics, plastic expression techniques, experimentation workshops (2 days/week).

Tutored professional project:

It allows the students to define their professional project and their further studies by supporting them in their plastic, graphic and technical choices for the realization of their portfolio. It also gives them the opportunity to define their field of expertise and to refine their sensitivity (2 days/week).

The challenge of this workshop is in the appropriation of the practices covered during the week, to affirm yourself in your plastic, graphic and technical reflection; and so to position yourself more effectively for the specificities of the entrance examination of the desired schools. To do this, you will be followed by a specialized teacher in the covered area.
